

Quick Facts

Company:

SolArc is a leading provider of commodity trading and risk management software and services for commodity-intensive businesses. SolArc was founded in 1991 by three Andersen Consulting (now Accenture) colleagues who wanted to offer consulting services and customized software solutions to the energy and insurance industries. SolArc's software enhances the cost savings and operational effectiveness of some of the most successful companies in the world by helping them manage risk and gain greater insight and control over their commodity trading environments.

Management Team:

Brad Anderson – Chief Executive Officer
Steve Odom – Chief Operating Officer
Cynthia Haynie – Chief Technology Officer
Aramis Alvarez – Vice president, Global Services
Susan Bauch – General Counsel and Corporate Secretary
Scott Creed – Vice President, Strategic Solutions
Mark Crosno – Vice President, Sales for Americas
Jeff Fiesinger – Vice President, Finance
Ray Hall – Vice President, Sales for EMEA and Asia Pacific
Catherine Hughes – Vice President, Services Operations
Eric Johnson – Vice President, Marketing
Roger Rowe – Vice President, Account Management
Michael Snayd – Vice President, Global Sales Solutions
Mike Snow – Vice President, Product Development

Products:

The SolArc integrated application suite combines trading, scheduling, accounting and management into a single, unified solution. Additional capabilities, such as SolArc's RiskCenter and CreditCenter, are also integrated and can be enabled at any time during or after implementation to meet the customer's specific needs.

Employees:

SolArc employs more than 150 people in Houston, Dallas, Tulsa, London and Singapore.

Customers:

SolArc has provided service for market-leading corporations across a wide range of vertical industries, including energy, transportation, finance, aviation, agriculture and consumer goods. Coal, crude oil, refined products, fuels, natural gas liquids and natural gas and other commodities are all traded using SolArc's integrated solution.

Headquarters: 9701 Richmond Ave., Suite 250

Houston, Texas 77042

Phone: (713) 260-5100

Web site: www.solarc.com

For additional information please email info@solarc.com